NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

A NEW ORGANISATION FOR THE CON-TROL OF RACING.

Projective, Issues a Printed Constitution and By-Laws-Clubs and Rucing Men Will Combine with Track Owners.

Some time ago it was announced in THE SUN that an effort would be made to get track owners, racing men, race-promoting clubs and as-sociations together on Dec. 8 and form an organization for the control of racing. In the meantime those who seek to supplant the L. A. W. in its control of cycling contests have been quietly but assiduously at work, and resterday a surprise was sprung on the fraternity by the circulation of the "conand by-laws of the National stitution Cycling Association" in the form of a neatly booklet. That the movement is well organized there is no room to doubt. The having been prepared carefully. The declared object is the direction of biercle racing and the punishment of irregularities therein plan proposed is to take jurisdiction in all the States east of the Mississippi, excepting Louisiana, and to form alliances with the Southern Cycling Association, Western Cycling Association and California Associated Cycling Clube, thereby covering the country. The ter ritory governed by the association is to be divided into five districts, as follows:

District A-Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut.

District D—North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia,
Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee. District E-Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan

The association will consist of bicycle track owners, incorporated race-promoting clubs and duly accredited representatives of the American Racing Cyclists' Union. Each of the five districts will have a board, the Chairman of which will constitute a National Board of Control. There will be a salaried Chairman of the board. Non-members will have to pay $10 for a permit to run a race meet. Riders and trainers will be obliged to register and pay a fee of $2. Besides the "constitution and bylaws," as epitomized above, a call for the meeting was mailed yesterday to all track owners members of the A. R. C. U. and to all race-pro sented at a meeting to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on the morning of Dec. 8. Among other things the letter making the call says:

The signers of this call believe that the time has come when the associations which have invested in tracks, the clubs which risk their money in promoting meets, and the pro-fessional riders who earn their livelihood in the government of a sport in which they are all racing element, as represented by such leaders as Chief Consul Sterling Elliott of Massachusetts, Chief Consul-elect Milo M. Belding, Jr. of New York, Secretary-Treasurer P. S. Collins of Pennsylvania, Chief Consul M. C. Rotier of Wisconsin and many other prominent members, is becoming so strong that the likelihood of the League's abandoning the sport is more than a probability. Even hampered by an unresponsive National Assembly, the L. A. W. Racing Board has not been wholy bad in its direction of cycle racing, but the sport requires more attention than it can ever hope to receive from a body which uses it as a political football, and has no financial risk in any form. Practical men are needed to place the sport upon a business yet sportsmanlike basis, and a government which does not change every year will then become a possibility."

The call is signed by J. D. Lasley of the Park Bleyele Track in Washington, D. C.; John C. Wetmore, Quill Club Wheelmen, and E. C. Bald. President of the A. R. C. U. According to those in this city who are promoting the formation of this new association, all the important tracks and clubs are pladged to its support and will be represented at the meeting on Dec. 8. The letter explicitly states that the "constitution and by-laws" that have been printed are only a suggestion and are to be amended and enlarged upon at the meeting.

The racing "outlaws" have secred another of New York, Secretary-Treasurer P. S. Collins

The racing "outlaws" have secred another victory in St. Louis, where the managers of the Coliseum, who have been holding aloof from the men and declaring that they would run no races except under L. A. W. sanction, have yielded, and consented to run indoor meets under the sanction of the A. R. C. U., or any organization formed for the control of racing with which the union may affiliate. The proviso regarding a new association refers to the proposed National Cycling Association.

A good story of bicycle enthusiasm, with a minister as voucher for it, was circulated among the members of a wheeling club in Harlem on Tuesday afternoon. A couple who live not far from the Third avenue bridge had determined to be married and to have a bicycle wedding. They were to ride to the house of the minister on a tandem, and some friends who were to act as witnesses were to accompany them on two tandems. The time set for the ceremony was Monday forenoon, but a notice was sent out andems. The time set for the ceremony was Monday forenoon, but a notice was sent out that the ceremony was postponed because wheel riding was impossible. After twenty-four hours of chagrin the loving pair, who were still firm to have a bleyele wedding, decided to attempt the trip yesterday morning, which was one of only a few blocks. After a hustle the groom got two friends who were willing to tackle a tandem ride and be witnesses. In the short distance there were everal dismounts necessary, and, according to the minister, who is himself a wheelman, the four were splashed with slush and mud. They composed a sorry looking bridal party when they reached his house. They made the best of it with jest and laughter, however, and the knot was tied. The quartet walked home and led their tandems.

Forks that have been sprung backward by collision with some object are one of the commonest of sights on the road. Usually it is best to have a trouble of this kind remedied by an expert repair man, but if the fork erown is only slightly bent, and the wheel is a good one, any rider can bend the crown or stem straight and bring the forks back into proper line. The method is to turn the wheel upside down, sit on the crank hanger, with legs astride of the lower tube and the feet on the handlerbars bracing them firmly. Then the forks can be grasped by the tends and a strong loverage obtained. By a steady pressure from the body the forks can be brought slowly to a true place.

Already there is talk concerning who is to be the next Chairman of the Bacing Board of the L. A. W., and the interest in it seems to be as great as if it was settled that the League will continue to control racing. C. W. Mears of Cleveland, who has just been elected Chief Consul of Ohio, is a reputed aspirant for the place, and is well backed. Some New Yorkers are advocating the name of Fred Burns on the ground of indisputable honesty and ability. Others in the greater city are supporting G. A. Needham, the Fresident of the Kings County Wheelmen, whose long experience has made him peculiarly fit for the place. Wheelmen, whose long experience has him peculiarly fit for the place.

Said Elliott to Potter: "I have lost $15,000 on the I. A. W. Bulletin during your administra-tion." Said Potter in reply: "It was also under McKinjey's Administration. Better search him. You can search me, I haven't it." That is the way a man who overheard the remarks repeats them and Potter admits the accuracy of the report.

A method of judging the running qualities of a wheel, or rather of its bearings, that is little known is that of placing one ear to the saddle after the cranks have been twisted and the rear wheels set in motion. The tubing carries the vibrations of the bearings and chain almost as well as a telephone wire carries those of the voice. In a chain wheel the balls in the crank banger can be heard to drop over, and every tendency to grind instead of roiling free can be noted. In a chainless wheel the setion of the teeth engaging each other can be detected just as readily, and if the car is trained by a little practice to understand what the sounds mean, as excellent idea of how well the bearings work can be obtained.

A man whose opinions concerning riding are always worthy of attention was drawn into a discussion of lightweight against heavyweight wheels, and in the course of his remarks he said:

discussion of lightweight against heavyweight wheels, and in the course of his remarks he said:

"The only objection to featherweights is that men do not know how to ride them. Light wheels are truly the thing, but they must be ridden with discretion and by cyclists who are accomplished. They are not fit for the hundreds and thousands of clumsy riders who go abroad nowadays handling bleycles as if they were trucks. For this class of wheelmen and for reckless ones light wheels are apt to be death-trape, but for the consummate cyclist they are the only proper class of vehicle. In handling a featherweight the rider must be sympathetic with the machine. He should, figuratively, be a part of it, responding lithesomely to every swerve and jump and jar, shifting his weight walking over a pile of cobblestones, a ploughed field or climbing to a summit. Severe wrenches, such as are caused by swinging out of a rut in the road, must be avoided, and the wheel should almost be lifted over car tracks and rough places.

"The seat is of first importance. On a light-anough almost be lifted over the control of places.

The seat is of first importance. On a lightweight in the saddle. The ideal poise has to be maintained so that the weight is divided between naddle, pedals and bare and may be shifted from one to the other. A 'light sent' is the thing. The rider should be so in touch with his mechine that if in the dark he strikes a large stone, a log of other obstraction, he instantaneously throwands weight backward and smartly lifts the front wheel so as to save it from the shock. Afterward is as to relieve the roar wheel as it passes over the obstacle. A featherweight is never as good after a smash-up and repair, but it is the proper mountif only men would learn to ride properly."

smash-up and revair, but it is the proper mountifonly men wouldlearn to ride properly."

Dr. T. B. McClure, in a recent address before the Detroit Medical Society, talked at some length about cycling for women, and hit some of the objectors to the use of wheels by women pretty hard. Among other things he said:

"If it is a henithful exercise for women and girls, it should be preached from every rulpit, taught in every school and praised and commended by every physician. If it is not a healthful exercise, it should be universally condemned. It gives to women a natural color in the face, gives them a better circulation, better breathing, takes them into the fresh and wholesome air, and, above all things, makes them companions of their husbands, and to the unmarried it supplies not only a pleasing but a healthful entertainment for their best young men. There is no reason why it should lead our women astray: it certainly would have a tendency to prevent it with married women, because their husbands are with them more hours in the day than when the wheel was unknown.

Then wheeling has been likened to the sedentary life of the operator of the sewing machine, but there would seem to be no resemblance. The stopped position, the restricted action of the lungs, digestive organs and the indoor environment cannot be compared with the upright position and the outdoor exhilarating influences attending the use of the wheel. Na better testimony for the benefits of the wheel is needed that to feast your eyes upon women bicyclists. Full of life, sturdy and well developed, no grander sight can mortal eyes gaze upon. Always ready for an outing, never tired, they forget all woman's allments—headsches, backaches, &c. It gives them just what they need, outdoor, active exercise, gets them out of the lilly-ventilated house, and gives them the greak pure air of nature. If you do not believe it, try it, and you will wish that every day in the year was a bicycle day."

NOTES. C. W. Miller, who won the six-day race last year, arrived here yesterday from St. Louis. He will prepare himself at once to start in the long grind that begins on next Sunday night at midnight.

Fournier, who was champion of France in 1893, announces his Intention to settle in America and follow the sprint races.

Fixtures Postponed by the Snow-Playing at Westchester.

Aside from the postponements caused by the Club the downfall has put off indefinitely any number of weekly competitions. The greatest events forced to await the clearing of the links lay S. Dougias for the Golf Club of Lakewood Cuv, which is to be made the feature of a gala afternoon during the holidays, according to the present plans of the Greens Committee; the match play rounds for the W. K. Fowler Cup at Dyker Meadow, for which the qualifying round was played on Thanksgiving Day, and the thirty-six-hole scratch medal play contest for the championship of the Baltusrol Golf Club first postponed on account of stormy weather

Snow has checked the work on the Queens County, Montelair and Cedarhurst links, but county, Montciair and Cedarhurst links, but only temporarily. With moderate weather the buildings will be proceeded with, and, quite as early as had been hoped for, the ground will be ready for the work of sodders and greenskeepers in March. The usual plan of covering up the putting greens with stable straw at the different clubs was called off by the sudden snows, but it is by no means certain that this will do any harm. The sentiment of the minority has been that greens left uncovered did quite as wellas those buried under a rich deposit, and this element has quoted, as a precedent that tramping on turf only thickens the roots, the verdure of the English drilling grounds, on which the soldiers stamp and drill in all stages of weather. The present snow will give a grand chance to settle the pros and cons of the argument, for the only club to have its greens well covered has been Ardsley. The others must take pot luck. The Rockaway Hunting Club, after two years of experimenting, last winterfused no stable straw on the greens, and, according to Samuel Frothingham, it was a gainer thereby. On this account alone no club need worry that its greens are uncovered. To cover greens is quite unusual in Great Britain during the winter. only temporarily. With moderate weather the

There has been considerable golf on the links of the Country Club of Westchester since Sunday, as the wind from off the Sound swept many of the holes quite clear from snow. Sluah has been an annoyance, but there has still been ample chances to play a desultory practice sort of game, while, when tired out, the players have had the warmth of the large clubhouse to enliven them. The Country Club has won the medal as the first to resume even partial golfing.

Showalter and Janowski Draw the Fifth

Game of Their Match After 46 Moves. In the fifth game of the Showalter-Janowski match at the Manhattan Chess Club vesterday Showalter got the move. He offered, as in the and third games, a Queen's Gambi Janowski, as usual, declined. Showalter varied from the former games by 5. P x O P instead of P-K3, and seemed to get the better position. Showalter developed a strong attack, and Janowski was compelled to work harder than he did in the earlier games, only just getting in his fifteenth move within the time limit. Showalter spent a long time in considering his seventeenth move and played Q—B 2. All the experts present believed he could have forced a win by P—B 5. Janowski was somewhat eased by the weaker move, but later Showalter again improved his position and by elever knight play won a pawn. It was thought than Janowski could have saved the pawn by moving the K B instead of the Q R to Q B at his twenty-third move, which would have enabled him to continue Kt—K with an even, if not slightly superior, game.

A Showaiter started the end game with a pawn to the good.

In the evening play there were several exchanges of pieces, and Janowski managed to win back his pawn when the game looked like a draw. After forty-six moves this result was recorded. Janowski said after the game to Showaiter: "I am sorry you did not win the game, for you played better chess than I did." The score:

Br. Louis, Nov. 30.—Dr. J. W. Smith of this city, a well-known trap expert, and Dr. Knowlton of New York shot a match at Dupont Park this afternoon at 100 live birds, for a purse of $100. Dr. Smith killed 98. He missed his sixteenth bird, and his sixty-fourth fell dead outside of bounds. Dr. Rhowlion killed 88. On Saturday James R. Elliott of Ransas City and Dr. Smith will shoot a match at Dupont Park, each having 100 live birds, for a purse of $100.

Young McCue Equals Slean's Record of Five

Winners in One Day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 .- When Trillo cross the finish of the sixth race a winner to-day it brought the full meeting of the Washington lockey Club to a close. In addition, it closed the lookey's season in the East for the year The weather was of the most pleasant kind, and the attendance was large. The track, however, was a perfect quagmire. All the winner finished with plenty to spare. The feature of the card was the second running of the Washington Cup, but it did not furnish as good s contest as the first one, owing to the heavy track. Knight of the Garter captured the rac in the same style as Jefferson did in the race on Thanksgiving Day, only he won in a gallop Another feature of the day was the brillian Another feature of the day was the brilliant riding of the young lightweight, McOue. This boy was in all the races, and at the end of the day he had equalled Tod Sloan's record of five winners, which Sloan made on Suburban day.

C. Fleisehmann & Sons to-day made an offer of $7,000 to W. P. Burch for his good two-year-old colt Gen. Mart Garry. Strange to say, the offer was refused. Although Gen. Mart Garry has shown himself to be the best two-year-old of the meeting, among the once he has beaten being the good filly Lady Lindsey, it is the general opinion that Burch made a mistake in not accopting the offer. Dean, the rider of Athy, presented a protest of foul against the winner, Walkenshaw, but it was not allowed. Strangest and Trillo were only winning favorites. Summaries:

NEW ORLHANS, Nov. 30.-The defeat of Macy. the 1 to 2 shot, in the fourth race, by Sam Lazarus, Esq., a two-year-old, whose price was 30 to 1, was to-day's feature of the Crescent City Jockey Club's programme. The result was a shock to Club's programme. The result was a shock to the talent, who backed Macy to a man, despite the short price. While Sam Lazarus was conceded to be a good colt in the going which prevailed, not a person on the ground imagined that he could lead such horses as Macy, Boanerges, Canova, or Dr. Shepperd from flagfail to finish. He did it like a stake horse, however. The colt won handliy by two lengths. The one mile and a half race was easy for George Lee, the 1 to 4 favorite, who won under wraps. In commenting on the sales of Star Pointer, 1:50%, and Cresceus, 2:11%, 2:00%, at 3 years old and 4 years old, John Splan, the veteran reinsman, had this to say: "It simply goes to show that the champions in their class, the well-bred trotter and pacer, are being sold very chesp. Certainly Pointer was well worth $25,000 of any man's money. Aside from the fact of his being the fastest and best advertised horse in the world, his value in the atud was apparently overlooked. It was on my advice that Mr. Esteham bought Robert McGregor, 2:17%, in 1800 for $5,000. There were some individuals who said he was foolish to buy. The gentleman came to me about it, and I said to him that he stallion would win out his purchase money in the stud and that his get would put money in the bank for him. Now I will venture to bet a new hat that Crescens won many thousands last year for his owner, and it is a fact that Ketcham certainly lost nothing in disposing of the horse for $14,000 to the Ealamazoo Stock Farm.

Lacrosse and Football Affairs at Harvard. CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 30.-The Harvard lacrosse cam will begin its winter stickwork in the gymnasium within the next few days. The team will be composed largely of new material, as only five of last year's men have returned. They are F. H. Purington, L. S. S.; E. B. Fay, 1901; F. B. Taylor, '99; C. F. Curley, 1902, Law, and N. P. Breed, 1902, M. It is intended to orm a triple league by admitting Cornell to the Harvard-Columbia dual league. The Crimson Harvard-Columbia dual league. The Crimson team will probably make two trips in the spring, one to Baltimore and one to New York. In Baltimore games will be arranged with Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore and Lehigh. On the New York trip the team will play the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn and its league game with Columbia. The Cornell game will be played in Cambridge.

The photograph of the Harvard football team, which was to have been taken to-day, was postponed until a week from to-day. The weather was bad, and Jaffray, the big centre, was absent in New York. The election of captain has also been deferred. The following men, who played in the Yale or Old Pena, games, have received the right to wear the 'varsity' H' from the Athletic Committee: B. H. Dibblee, Thy: F. D. Cochrane, '160 M.; Donald, '99; W. A. Boal, 1600; P. D. Haughton, '99; J. W. Hallowell, 1601; C. D. Daly, 1601; L. Warren, 1900; W. T. Reid, Jr., 1601; J. W. Farley, '99; W. D. Eaton, 1902; F. L. Burnett, 1001.

Northern Counties.

OGDENSBURG, Nov. 30.-The best football ontest ever fought out north of Syracuse ocurred here this afternoon for the championship of the northern counties. Two years ago the first game of the kind was played. Water-town winning. Last year Ogdensburg won. This fail the same two teams have defeated the others hereabouts, and were entitled to play for the championship. Great preparations were made for the affair, and it was easily the greatest athletic event ever held in this section. Special trains loaded to the platforms were run, while Ogdensburg closed its stores and other business places and turned out en masse. The attendance was about 6,000. The feeling between the two teams was intense. The betting favored Ogdensburg at 10 to 8, and a large amount was wagered. The Watertown meanmade a touchdown, but it was not allowed. Impartial observers believed Ogdensburg to he right in the controversy. Watertown came dangerously near scoring in two other instances, while at no time was its goal seriously threatened. Neither team scored. the first game of the kind was played, WaterTOP PRICE FOR TIVERTON.

Ex-Corporation Counsel Clark Sells Four

Four-Year-Old Trotters for 84,680-As-semblyman Carll Burr Buys Margaret Worth, a Speedy Mare from California. Ex-Corporation Counsel W. H. Clark, who is going to give New Yorkers a new trotting track, parted with the last of his light harness horses yesterday at the Fasig sale in Madison Square Garden. Twenty-nine animals, principally brood mares and colts from his breedfarm in New Jersey, passed under Thirty head were sold week. The entire consignment of fifty-nine brought $12,540, an average of $212 each. For the four green four-year olds that Charley Thompson developed and trained at the Guttenburg track last summer Clark received $4,000, an average of $1,165 each. These were The Kid, a pacer, by Director, that Thompson worked a mile in 2:10; Zanonia, a trotter, by Bobert McGregor, that was tried in 2:15%; Poetess, a pacer of 2:15 speed, by John J. Steinway paying $1,300 for the rugged bay gelding. After these horses had been sold Trainer Thompson bought for the ex-Corporation Counsel, at private sale, the big bay pacing gelding Tod Crook, 2:10%, by Brown's Hambletonian. He is one of the handsomest pacers of his size in the country, and is a model road horse for those who like pacers. It is said that Clark bought Tod Crook to present to the lightweight jockey Maher, who will ride the Clark runners next year. The horse was owned by Vance Nuckois of Cleveland, who bought him at the Garden sale a few days ago. Sam Gamble's California trotters, that came across the continent in the car with the champion stailion Directum, 2:05%, arriving at the Garden too late to be sold as scheduled in the catalogue, were offered yesterday. The bay trotting mare Margaret Worth, 2:15, was purchased by Assemblyman Carll S. Burr of Commack, L. I., whe is said to have made the purchase for H. O. Havemeyer. Margaret Worth was one of the best campaigners on the coast last year. In the first five heats of a great reas at Chico she was separately timed in 2:13%, 2:13%, 2:14, 2:16 and 2:14. She is said to be a fine read mare. Ex-Senator John McCarty of Brooklyn paid $700 for El Milagro, a yearling bay coft by McKinney, 2:114. The best sales were: day's sale, Fred T. Sydney Paget Pays $7,600 for Lissak

LEXINGTON, Nov. 30.—The midwinter sales of thoroughbreds closed to-day. Woodard & Shanklin sold 342 head for $52,525, a general average of $153.58 per head. Adding to this 301 head for $72,370 at the Easton sale makes a grand total of #43 head of thoroughbreds for $124,895. Of this stock the Breeders' Mutual Benefit Association secured seventy-nine head for $2,170. Fifty-three of these mares were bought to-day, for which $1,525 was paid. The highest price was $95 for Quindora Belle, a half sister to Reford and the dam of Tanered. The association bought Velocity, the dam of Miss Bramble, the property of H. E. Leigh. A Bramble mare, Bramble Net, a winner, and only four years old and out of Repeat, was also secured by the association.

Sydney Paget was the largest buyer to-day. He paid $7,600 for Lissak. Imp. Simple Simon brought $15. Old Center sold for $10 and Bill Letcher, winner of the Latonia Derby and the St. Louis Derby, brought only $100. Frontino, a full brother to Faisetto, sold for $20. CLARK'S NEW TROTTING TRACK. Contract for Its Construction Awarded-YONEERS, Nov. 30.-The contract for the onemile trotting track which ex-Corporation Counsel William H. Clark of New York has decided to construct was awarded yesterday to Pennell & O'Hern of this city. The specifications call for a track 100 feet wide, which will be, it is said, the widest rotting track in the country, and of oval shape. The work is to be completed by May 15, 1899. course in hand and apply the top dressing which is to be twenty-two inches deep and of imported loam. There will be no slope to any part of the course, and in order to produce a perfectly level track it is estimated that 800,000 cubic yards of clay will have to be transferred. The track will be bounded on the north by Yonkers avenue, on the west by Central Park avenue, and on the east by Midland and Woodlawn avenues. It will be midway between Mount Vernon and Yonkers on Yonkers avenue. The contract for a steel grand stand capable of seating 10,000 persons is being considered by contractors, as is also a finely appointed clubhouse.

A large number of surveyors were at work today staking out the course, and on Monday next ground will be broken. The contractors state that in order to meet the requirements of the contract they would be obliged to work the full twenty-four hours of the day. Clark's intention, it is stated on high authority, is to hold the Grand Circuit meeting on the new track next year. It is also stated that the building of the track will cost $150.00. which is to be twenty-two inches deep and of Horse Owners and Bookmakers Testify in the Trial of the Washington Jockey Club. WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The case of the United Washington, Nov. 30.—The case of the United States against the Washington Jockey Club had its second day's trial before Justice Kimball this morning. Owing to the interest that is being taken in the case the courtroom was again filled with both racegoers and spectators. Orlando Jones, the bookmaker, was on the stand again and showed the difference between the bookmaking of old times and that of the present day. Then Tom Magge, John J. McCafferty, Richard C. Doggett. C. Littlefield, Jr., and W. C. Daly, all horse gwners, followed in order and told how the horses were entered, and how the purses were paid after the races had been won. FIGHTING.

Fitzstmmons Says His Laying Down to Hall

Bob Fitzsimmons's opinion of the Cerbett Sharkey flasco and the subsequent investig. tion has called forth a storm of protest from followers of the prize ring. The champion is anmercifully scored and criticised. They conend that his reputation is somewhat smirched, and that he had no right to say that the fight was a fake. Fitz was at the Hotel Barthold yesterday, and in answer to his critics said:
"Some people say that I have no right to express my opinion of the battle between Corbett and Sharkey; that I ought not to throw stones and Sharkey; that I ought not to throw stones at glass houses because of the fact that I admitted I laid down to Jim Hall In Australia for a paitry sum. Well and good. I don't deny it. It is a fact. At that time I was an ignorant, green blacksmith, making barely a living. I wanted to forge my way forward in the boxing line. A chap came to me one day and said; Bob, do you want to make some money? I said 'Of course I do.' 'Well,' he replied, 'you can make some by travelling around Australia with Jim Hall.' Hall was a coming middle-weight at that time, and I quickly grasped the opportunity. There was many times a void in my stomach, and the chance of getting three square meels every day, with a soft, downy bed to rest my head, made my eyes beam and my heart jump with loy. I was requested to drop one night before Hall, and on the following night I was to beat him. Thus we went on from town to town. I was simply employed, and like a dutiful hireling to his master I obeyed orders. That is all there is to it, and no one will say, who is not prejudiced, that I did wrong. My reputation in America is beyond reproach, for I have always fought to win.

"As to my future plans, I want it understood that I am still in the game and ready to box any heavy weight in the world. The fact that McCoy won't meet me leaves quite a gap in the ranks. I am preparing a statement, in which I will tell just whom and when I will light."

MITCHELL AFTER SHARKEY. The Englishman Challenges the Sailor an

the Latter Accepts.

Special Cable Despatch to Tun Bun, LONDON, Nov. 30.-"Poney" Moore, father-n-law of Charles Mitchell, the puglist, has eposited £200 at the office of Sporting Life to bind a match between Mifchell and Tom purse offered for the contest by any club in England or the United States. It is announced by Moore that the match can be ratified immediately by Sharkey covering the £200 and forwarding articles for Mitchell's signature.

When Sharkey was apprised of Mitchell's challenge yesterday he said to the reporter of THE SUN:

"I am ready to accept his defl at the drop of the hat. It is an opportanity for which I have longed for some time. There is no doubt in my mind of Mitchell's sincerity, for every pugifist shows that he means business when he accompanies his challenge, with hard cash. At present I have no definite plans in view and would be just as well satisfied to tackle Mitchell as any one else. I will go to England and box him, or I will agree to have the meeting decided here. Any way will suit me. I would be pleased with the chance of boxing in England, as I have never had occasion to show my ability there. My manager will cover Mitchell's deposit to-morrow and will transfer it to the London Sporting Life if necessary. I am ready to box Mitchell or any other fighter for from $5,000 to $10,000 a side. The one that comes first will get the preference."

Rothermel Saves the Orientals from Losing to the Rosedales in the A.N. Tournament. The second American national tournament game last night was so close that when Clinch and Stump-rel failed to mark in the last frame the Rosedales gained a slight lead. Rothermel, Rowever, saved his leam with two strikes in addition to the one made in the minth frame. Both Stein and Lebrach missed case spaces, but the misplays had no bearing on the final result. The Rosedales also lost the first game, while the Orientals carried off the third courses. The
